Employee Benefits

Is Outsourcing COBRA Administration the Solution for Your Firm?

COBRA allows employees to retain health insurance benefits after they leave a company. And while former employees pay for the continued insurance, employers must continue to administrate the plan. Outsourcing is becoming an increasingly popular COBRA solution for companies who must comply with the law but don't have the staff resources to continue health plan administration.

Benefits Administration

Reduce Expenses By Monitoring Dependent Benefit Eligibility

The cost of providing health insurance is a growing concern among most employers, and there doesn't appear to be relief on the horizon. If your plan includes a large number of employee dependents, this might be a good time to reexamine their eligibility. Removing those who, for any reason, are no longer eligible could save substantially on the cost of providing health insurance.

Benefit Tax Issues

Audit Your Retirement Plan Before the Feds Do

Many companies are unaware their retirement plans have problems until they are audited by the IRS or investigated by the Department of Labor. However, by self-auditing your plan, you can identify and correct any problems before the federal government initiates an investigation. Continue reading for six areas which can get your company in trouble.

"We formerly had our employee benefit plan audit with one of the 'Big Four' national accounting firms, but knew that we were not getting the attention and service we needed. Making the switch to Gray, Gray & Gray was like night and day! We are getting the same degree of competence and experience, but with a much higher level of service. At much more reasonable fees, too!"
