GG&G News - Employee Benefit Plan Audits

Do You Employ 50 or More People? You'll Need to Know This!

Delays in implementing the Affordable Care Act (ACA) are over, and businesses must now be sure they are in compliance with the ACA's requirements. The ACA has the greatest impact on "Applicable Large Employers," generally defined as those companies who employ 50 or more full-time employees (or full-time equivalents). If your business falls into this category, here are five of the most important ACA provisions you should know about – and be taking action on.

Long-Term Care Insurance Can Be a Tax-Free Perk

For tax purposes, long-term care insurance grows more attractive depending on who buys the policy. There's a big difference in the tax implications of a policy purchased by you as an individual and the same policy purchased by your business. To find out how to maximize the tax benefits before buying, read the "Full Article."

U.S. Government Clears Way for Retirement Plan Longevity Insurance

Secure retirement is becoming more of a challenge these days. The nation's economic uncertainty, poor performance of some types of pension plans, and lack of personal savings and/or planning has left many wondering if they'll have money to survive retirement. Longevity insurance may be a way to help overcome some of the uncertainty, in the form of a different kind of annuity. Take a look at a program that came to life in mid-2014.

Benefits Administration

Workers' Compensation Vs. Disability Income Insurance

Among individuals who are 20 years old today, one in four will become disabled by the time they retire. The disability may or may not be work-related, but either way, most people aren't prepared for life with a disability. Disability insurance or workers' compensation can help meet the financial needs that are inevitable. This article explains the difference between the two types of insurance.
