Gray, Gray & Gray Announces 2013 Charity of Choice: Cradles to Crayons

Cradles to Crayons | Providing the essentials for childhood.

Gray, Gray & Gray is dedicated to serving our communities. What better way to serve than by helping children to obtain the essential items they need to thrive – at home, at school and at play?

We are pleased to announce Cradles to Crayons as our 2013 Charity of Choice. Together, we will work to provide children from birth through age 12, living in homeless or low-income situations, with these critical items to help make a positive difference in their lives.

Timely Opportunities

Complying with Federal Laws When Hiring Teen Employees

Does your business employ teenagers in the summer? Young workers are a valuable asset to many employers at this time of year. If you're among them, make sure your organization is in compliance with federal and state laws. Government agencies have websites to inform youth workers of their rights. Here's a look at the applicable laws.

Federal court ruled in new case that unpaid internships violated wage laws.

Personal Tax

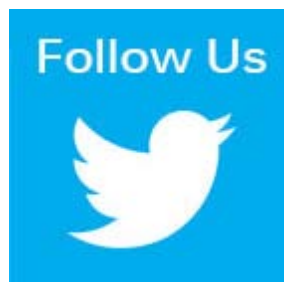

Think About Your Future Tax Bills

When are investors not disappointed after the value of their portfolios goes down? When they're thinking about converting their regular IRAs to Roth IRAs. When stocks are down, along with the value of your IRA, it's a good time to think about future tax savings. Here are the guidelines.

Employee Caregiver Considerations

While every workplace includes parents who are raising children, the percentage of employees caring for aging parents -- or grandparents who are the primary caregivers for grandchildren -- is rising. Developing policies to address these various caregiver relationships is an increasing challenge for employers. Click "Full Article" to learn about the guidance available from the EEOC.
