Plan Ahead to Make Disability Benefits Tax-Free

Company-paid disability insurance provides protection in the event you suffer a disability or become so ill that you can't work. But the value of long-term disability insurance benefits can be eroded if you have to pay taxes on them. Here's an explanation of the rules, and a strategy your company may want to implement to transform taxable disability benefits into tax-free payments for yourself and other family members.

Classification of Workers: Could Section 530 Come to the Rescue?

Businesses and the IRS often disagree about the classification of some workers. Should they be classified as employees or independent contractors? If the IRS determines that workers have been misclassified, a business can suffer adverse tax consequences. However, there might be relief with "Section 530." This article explains.

What's Happened with My Tax-Free Transportation Fringe Benefits?

Employees accustomed to tax-free, transportation-related fringe benefits may be wondering what's happened. Employers may not be so generous with these benefits, following passage of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act. The main reason: Employers no longer get deductions for the costs. Here's a look at the new rules and the ways you can still save on taxes.
