Family Business

A Tax-Smart Strategy: Hire Your Spouse

In the world of taxes, a "Section 105 Plan" can be a win-win situation. If you're married and run a family business, your spouse may do a great deal of work for the company whether or not he or she is on the payroll. Here's a way that you can compensate your spouse, help pay your family's medical expenses and reduce your taxes at the same time ... provided you get the details right.

Human Resources

Genetic Nondiscrimination Law Affects Many Work Practices

A law is now in effect that provides protection against discrimination against employees based on genetic information. But what if your workplace has wellness programs or other benefits that involve employees divulging medical information? In order to comply with the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act, here are some steps that employers can take.

Management

Protect Morale by Handling Rumors Effectively

Gossip and innuendo can shake the foundations of even strong organizations. Obviously, your company doesn't want false or hurtful stories spreading through the workplace, but how do you prevent it, especially in light of the current economic downturn due to the coronavirus (COVID-19)? Continue reading to find out how to deal with rumors — and learn why you don't want to institute a broad-based ban on certain workplace conversations.
