Gray, Gray & Gray, LLP's News

To Our Clients and Business Associates

We recently updated our email addresses to @gggllp.com to coincide with our new website domain of www.gggllp.com.

Please check your email "Junk Folder" for any firm communications from our new @gggllp.com email addresses and mark these emails as "Not Junk".

As a reminder, to help ensure your receipt of future important firm communications, we ask that you please "whitelist" the @gggllp.com email addresses so your email program will accept them and not filter them into a junk/spam folder.

Keep in mind that you may be contacted by several different members of the Gray, Gray & Gray team, so whitelisting the @gggllp.com extension will help ensure you receive all firm emails.

Whitelisting means adding senders of legitimate emails to your approved, or safe senders list. You can perform this task in the "Junk Email Options" of your email program where you can add email addresses to your Safe Senders list, which will keep emails from this contact at the top of your inbox and out of the junk folder. Since our clients use a wide array of email programs and we cannot provide specific instructions, feel free to search "whitelisting" on the internet which will provide you with step by step instructions and video tutorials.

We look forward to giving you the power to do more in 2021!

Management

Managing Your Business through a Crisis: 6 Steps to Success

Thinking through, in advance, the steps you would take in a crisis can go a long way to diffuse an otherwise disastrous situation, though it would've been hard to predict the impact of the coronavirus (COVID-19). If you now have time on your hands, ask yourself some questions with an eye to the future. How will your company's leaders manage in the face of a threat? Would your staff panic or would they know what to do? Here's a look at what some giants of commerce have done.
