Your Feedback Matters! Share Your Question Suggestions for Our Upcoming Annual Energy & Propane Industry Survey

Do you have question suggestions for our 31st annual survey? We want to know!

At Gray, Gray & Gray, we are committed to bringing you key information to fuel your success, including our annual industry survey which provides vital information on fuel oil and propane industry standards of performance. For over three decades, your participation in our survey has been critical for developing a "snapshot" of the retail oil and propane industry, helping us to establish industry benchmarks and the standards by which company performance is measured. Help us continue these efforts and build an even better survey for you!

Can You Claim a Recovery Rebate Credit on Your 2021 Taxes?

While most eligible people have already received their Economic Impact Payments from the federal government, not everybody got a stimulus check or did not receive the full Recovery Rebate amount. If you were eligible for an Economic Impact Payment and did not receive it, you may be able to claim a Recovery Rebate Credit to reduce any tax you owe for 2021, or to increase your tax refund. To claim the credit you must file a 2021 tax return, even if you do not typically file a return.

The Internal Revenue Service (IRS) has set up a page to answer frequently asked questions about the Recovery Rebate Credit, which can be accessed online here.

If you have additional questions about Economic Impact Payments or potential Recovery Rebate Credits, please contact Gray, Gray & Gray at (781) 407-0300.

Why You Should Keep IRS Letter 6419

Filing your tax return involves a lot of paperwork and documentation and keeping track of what is important can be a challenge. But it is essential that you hold on to one letter that you may receive from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) this year. Letter 6419 is the official documentation containing the details you will need to report payments received through the Child Tax Credit program.
